Ethical Responsibility, Professional Capability, Total Accountability

I am a ten-year resident of Georgetown, Colorado and originally from the Adirondacks Region of New York State. I hold a Master of Science degree in College & Agency Counseling with a specialization in Student Affairs Professional Practice. I also have a Bachelor of Arts degree in Criminal Justice. My studies included courses in Child & Adolescent Development, which included registration as a mandated reporter for suspected and/or confirmed child abuse and neglect. I currently serve as a Financial Credit Examiner for the Colorado Division of Banking, a segment of the Department of Regulatory Agencies. As such, I am well versed in the reading and interpretation of legal statutes, complex policies and procedures, and financial statements.

I gained significant experience serving on various boards, committees, and task forces with notable achievement in my personal and professional life. I know firsthand that decisions made at the senior level, regardless of nomenclature, are immediately impactful to the community served. I also understand the material importance of an objective position when it comes to realms of passion... no realm of which garners more passion than the education and protection - mental, emotional, and physical - of our community's children. I wish to be of service to this end.
